New Mill Grinding, Refinery Planned

The new $14,000,000 sugar mill at Bryant which the U.S. Sugar Corporation broke ground for in April, 1961, started grinding cane on schedule on Tuesday of this week. The massive structure, rushed to completion by USSC president Harry T. Vaughn and his staff of officials, is one of the most modern in the world, it was pointed out by representatives of the contractor, Farrel-Birmingham of Ansonia, Conn.

More than a year ago, when plans were being drawn for the new mill, plans were in the talking stage about a new refinery to be built near the Bryant mill. Mr. Vaughn in a recent statement said that the refinery—proposed at the start of the sugar boom, then shelved—would be. "A venture including both U. S. Sugar and Savannah Sugar (Refinery Corp.)."

Negotiations are still underway but a formal announcement on the cost, location and other refinery specification should be ready shortly, Vaughn said.

The rough estimate of the cost of the refinery proposed earlier was 5 million dollars, but Vaughn said Monday plans were not yet definite enough to give a cost estimate on the revived venture.

Belle Glade 10th With State Teams

One of the best football teams in the history of Belle Glade High School, and unconditionally the best from that school since it joined in the formation of the Suncoast Conference 13 years ago, is another major step closer this week to the first league title of any description for the Rams.

An inspired 12-0 triumph at Lake Worth Friday night over the pennant-favored Trojans boosted the Ram record to 7-0, and 5-0 in the conference, with the Belle Glade goal still uncrossed. In the league's annals, only the '56 Ram team won as often when it compiled a 7-2-1 record, and the first Ram team in the Suncoast in '59 and also the '56 outfit each won five conference contests. So both school records are equalled with three games yet to come, and both are virtually assured of being topped.

Even more intriguing is the unblemished defensive mark. No Suncoast team ever has achieved that objective, or even gone this far in the season without giving up at least one touchdown to the opposition.

But two major hurdles still are facing the leaders. In the feature of next Friday's four-game league card, Belle Glade invades rebounding Ft. Pierce which inflicted the lone blot on runnerup Pahokee's record Oct. 12 at Ft. Pierce. After (Continued on Page 7)

Local Carnival Is A Huge Success

The Annual Halloween Carnival at the Canal Point school on Wednesday night of this week was a huge success from standpoint of entertainment for the youngsters and from the amount of net cash realized from the evening's entertainment.

Delectable food was served in the cafeteria starting at six o'clock and nearly all of the school patrons attended and participated in the evening meal. A nice amount of cash was realized from this chore.

A country store, a fishing pond, a cake walk, hayride, pony ride, fortune telling booth, candied apples, dart throwing booth, and many other forms of entertainment netted the group a sizeable amount of cash.

Valuable door prizes were awarded at the end of the evening's entertainment. These prizes were furnished through the generosity of cooperating merchants. Mr. Threlkeld's room gave a program in the auditorium which won the praise of those who attended.

The Farm Front

How many times have you read reports of an auto accident when a drive was quoted as saying "My brakes failed?"

What would cause a sudden failure of brakes which presumably had been operating satisfactorily?

In passenger cars and trucks with hydraulic brakes, a failure could be caused by the "phantom killer"—a substandard brake fluid.

To combat this menace, Congress has passed a new law aimed at protecting America's auto owners against brake failure in an emergency. The law prohibits shipment in interstate commerce of any brake fluid that is not up to standard.

In Florida we have had a brake fluid law since 1959. The original law, passed by the Legislature in that year, was found to be inadequate and was replaced by a new one in the 1961 session. Responsibility for its enforcement is a function of the Department of Agriculture along with our enforcement of the laws pertaining to gasoline and kerosene inspections. To operate safely, a fluid for hydraulic brake systems must have a boiling point high enough so it does not vaporize (turn to gas) under the heat generated by brake drum friction. Most of today's fluids that meet standard specifications are a special blending of lubricants, glycols and glycol ethers—all organic chemicals. They remain fluid even under stress of emergency braking.

In our laboratory analysis of brake fluid samples picked up by our inspectors around the state, we've found some peculiar materials. Many were a potential traffic hazard. Some were nothing but rubbing alcohol. Others were rubbing alcohol with some, but not enough, of the necessary organic chemicals added.

A few of the samples were plain denatured alcohol. And one (believe it or not) turned out to be moonshine liquor. One of our inspectors found the owners of several pickup trucks, who did his own service work, putting beer in the hydraulic brake systems.

Any liquid would perform temporarily in a brake system—so long as it remains a liquid. But a fluid that vaporizes under heat is NOT safe to use for hydraulic brakes because, when it turns to gas, the gas will be compressed instead of exerting necessary pressure to force the brake shoe against the drum.

The name "phantom killer" for that kind of fluid is an apt one. As the cause of an accident the substandard brake fluid would many times be difficult to detect because, after a smashup, there's usually time for the brake system to cool down before someone thinks to test its operation. And after it has cooled, the "killer" becomes a fluid again, so a test would show that the brakes work.

Only a laboratory analysis of the fluid in the car's system would reveal whether it could have been the cause of a temporary brake failure.

A standard brake fluid can deteriorate if the container is left uncovered because the fluid, being very hygroscopic, quickly absorbs moisture when exposed to air. For that reason, purchasers of brake fluid in large quantities, such as a 55-gallon drum, should exercise care to see that the contents are protected with air-tight covers for any opening.

Because our experience in testing brake fluids has covered only the past three years, we are seeking to learn more about them under normal storage and servicing conditions. For that reason we have invited school districts throughout the state, which maintain and service fleets of school buses and buy their brake fluid in large quantities, to send us samples once a month for laboratory analysis.

Our inspection and analysis can be of benefit sometimes to a manufacturer. On one occasion when our laboratory turned in an unfavorable report on a product which the manufacturer had specified was properly blended, he lost no time seeking the reason. After a careful investigation, he discovered his packaging was defective. When that was corrected, his fluid performed satisfactorily and we registered it for sale in Florida.

Although the toll of highway deaths in Florida has increased over last year, I note that, mile for mile, highway travel in the U. S. is more than twice as safe as it was in 1943 and three times safer than it was in 1933.

National Safety Council reports 18.6 persons died in motor vehicle accidents for each 100 million miles traveled on the nation's highways in 1933. A decade later the death rate had dropped to 11.5 and by 1961 it was down to 5.2.

Anything we can do to reduce that figure further, including the elimination of substandard brake fluids, will be a step in the right direction.

New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new  $3\frac{3}{4}\%$  interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to  $2\frac{3}{4}\%$  for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed  $4\%$  each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra  $\frac{1}{4}\%$  from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic  $\frac{1}{4}\%$  increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you name automatically deducted every payday. The Bonds you buy by installments are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—money for military strength and for science. And money saved by individuals helps keep our economy sound.

Emmett S. Roberts Seeks Reelection

The dean of Palm Beach County's legislative delegation Emmett S. Roberts of Belle Glade, is among the veteran public officials seeking reelection in the general election Nov. 6th.

Roberts, a Democrat, has been a member of the State House of Representatives for a number of years and is recognized as one of the most influential members of the legislature. He is the county's group two candidate.

During his tenure as a state representative, Roberts has served as chairman and member of many of the major committees during the regular session and for periods between sessions. Among these committees are the appropriations committee where membership is most important to the state university project at Boca Raton; finance and taxation, government reorganization, education, drainage and water conservation and many others.

One of his major assignments is membership on the powerful state legislative council, the lone House member from the Sixth Congressional District who holds such membership.

Major legislation introduced by Roberts includes a bill in 1955 which paved the way for the Atlantic University at Boca Raton; co-sponsored legislation responsible for appropriation enabling Palm Beach Junior College to obtain a permanent site; co-sponsored a bill reducing intangible taxes and another for reorganization of the State Department of Agriculture.

Roberts' record of service won him commendation in a Tampa Tribune editorial, for his work in helping the migrant agricultural worker and for his service as chairman of a Citizen's Advisory Committee on Migrant Agricultural Labor.

"I am proud of my record," Roberts said, "and I feel that my experience and position of legislative seniority will prove invaluable to Palm Beach County in the 1963 legislature."

"My ambition is to serve the people of Palm Beach County. I have and will at all times, serve with integrity and loyalty, doing my job to the best of my ability."

Ben Sundy Seeking Return To Board

County Commissioner Ben Sundy, Delray Beach, today said he has no plans for appearing on a television program either with or without his campaign opponent.

His Republican opponent had invited Sundy to share time before TV cameras to argue about county affairs.

In a letter to his opposition, Sundy said he has limited campaign funds and is not in a position to pay his share of such a program. Neither Sundy said, would he let an opponent or anyone else, foot the bill.

Sundy charged his opponent with making uninformed statements as to the operation of county government and added that he felt his opponent, apparently so uninformed, was not in a position to adequately discuss the county's problems. "These wild statements as to the operation of the county," Sundy wrote, "are even disproved by members of your own party, now serving on the Board of County Commissioners."

"You cannot and would not be able to carry out all the promises you have made and are making in order to attract the voter's interest," Sundy said.

Sundy said he is well aware of the problems in the development of the county and conscious of the availability of tax money to solve these problems.

"In this election," Sundy wrote his opponent, "I am campaigning on my record in office and I am sure my honesty and integrity cannot be debated in the negative by you."

Free Orange Juice Drawing Tourists

TALLAHASSEE — Of all the gimmicks used to promote Florida's tourist industry, none has proved more successful than the practice of serving free orange juice at one of the state's seven welcome stations.

The first welcome station was established in Nassau County on U. S. Highway 17 in 1949 under the supervision of the State Road Department. It proved so successful that six other stations have been constructed during the intervening years.

All welcome stations are now operated by the Florida Development Commission which is in charge of promoting tourism.

John Ward, manager of the welcome stations, says 148,062 persons were served orange juice during July of this year. These visitors arrived in 41,435 vehicles and consumed 5,157 gallons of concentrated orange juice.

Ward also points out that the welcome stations are important in helping to compile statistics needed in the promotion of tourism.

"The welcome stations help us estimate how many tourists are visiting the state, their destination, why they chose Florida for their vacation, what they like about the state and suggested improvements," Ward explains.

The frozen juice is purchased from Florida distributors and served from a bubbling fountain in paper cups at the average cost of two and one half cents per cup.
